SCHOLARSHIP SOURCES

Texas A&M University

Texas A&M is pleased to be able to provide funding for scholarships. The university is committed to supporting the best scholars from various educational, socioeconomic and geographic backgrounds. Funding provided for first-generation college students, National Scholars, students from underserved Texas high schools and other populations is a clear representation of Texas A&M's commitment to fostering the potential in all students for the betterment of the university, the State of Texas and the world.

Texas A&M Foundation

The Texas A&M Foundation's mission is to raise major gift and endowed funds and manage assets to enhance the academic excellence, Aggie spirit and affordability of Texas A&M. Former students and friends of Texas A&M provide gifts to the Texas A&M Foundation. These gifts are endowed to preserve the principal gift and provide a steady income of interest which is used to fund scholarships for current and future Aggies. Each scholarship is set up to be offered according to donor's wishes. The Texas A&M Foundation is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organization.

Scholarships funded through endowments at the Texas A&M Foundation generally require the recipient to write a thank you note and attend a donor event either in the fall or spring, depending on the scholarship. More information will be provided if you are receiving a scholarship from the Texas A&M Foundation.

Association of Former Students

The Association of Former Students provides scholarship funds to Scholarships & Financial Aid for new freshmen, transfer and continuing students. These funds are provided by former students and friends of Texas A&M in the form of small annual contributions to the Annual Fund. Collectively, these donations impact the Aggie experience. In addition, the Association of Former Students provides scholarships through endowments provided through the generous donations of family and friends to honor or memorialize former or deceased students or friends of Texas A&M.

Scholarships funded by the Association of Former Students generally require the recipient to write a thank you note and attend a donor event each spring. More information will be provided if you are receiving a scholarship from the Association of Former Students.

Outside Scholarships

A large amount of scholarship funding for our students comes from outside of Texas A&M. Students seek out, apply for and are offered these scholarships from local, state and national organizations. Students then bring these awards with them to Texas A&M and utilize them toward the total cost of attendance.

All outside scholarships should be reported to Scholarships & Financial Aid at Texas A&M University every year via the Report Outside Scholarships and Resources form in the Financial Aid portal. Due to federal regulations regarding aid eligibility, receiving additional scholarship funds (either from inside or outside the university) may impact your eligibility for certain aid programs. Your current financial aid package may require adjustment. If Scholarships & Financial Aid receives a scholarship after aid has disbursed for the semester, you may be required to repay any aid for which you no longer qualify.

SCHOLARSHIP POLICIES & PROCEDURES

Scholarship Satisfactory Academic Progress

Scholarship recipients are expected to maintain Scholarship Satisfactory Academic Progress (Scholarship SAP) for each scholarship received. If you receive more than one scholarship, each scholarship is administered separately and may have unique requirements. The terms of each scholarship are listed beginning on page 9.

Grades (GPR Requirements)

- Most scholarship programs require you to maintain a minimum cumulative GPR. Minimum GPR requirements are listed beginning on page 9.
- Scholarship recipients who earn a cumulative GPR less than 2.0 will be automatically suspended. You will be given the opportunity to appeal the suspension and, if granted, continue receiving your scholarship(s) payment(s). If you do not submit an appeal or the appeal is denied, your scholarship(s) payment(s) will remain cancelled.
- The first time your cumulative GPR falls below the minimum requirement for your scholarship(s), you will be placed on scholarship probation, as long as the cumulative GPR is at or above a 2.0. Falling below a cumulative 2.0 will result in automatic loss of eligibility. During the following probationary semester, you will continue receiving your scholarship(s) payment(s) while working towards regaining the required GPR. Students on scholarship probation will be required to attend mandatory advising.
- The second (or any subsequent) semester your cumulative GPR falls below the minimum requirement for your scholarship(s), you will be placed on scholarship suspension. You will lose (forfeit) payment for each semester your cumulative GPR is below the requirement. You will be given the opportunity to appeal; if granted, you will continue receiving your scholarship(s) payment(s). If you do not submit an appeal or the appeal is denied, your scholarship(s) payment(s) will remain cancelled. Students with granted appeals will be required to attend mandatory advising.
- Students who later earn the required cumulative GPR for their scholarship(s) while suspended due to denial of an appeal or failure to submit an appeal, may request to have any remaining scholarship payments reinstated. Reinstatement is not available for all scholarships and is often subject to donor approval. See the list of scholarships eligible for reinstatement on the Request for Scholarship Reinstatement form on page 21.

Hours (Enrollment and the 30/60/90 Hour Rule)

- Undergraduate scholarship recipients must be enrolled full-time (12 hours every fall and spring semester) at Texas A&M. Blinn TEAM students should be enrolled in 12 hours total per fall and spring.
- The 30/60/90 Hour Rule is designed to encourage successful course completion and timely persistence to degree. You are required to have 30 total earned credits by the end of your first academic year, 60 total earned credits by the end of your second academic year, and 90 earned credits by the end of your third academic year. An academic year is defined as fall – spring – summer (in that order). Transfer credit, dual credit, or AP/IB credit will count toward the 30/60/90 Hour Rule. Unsatisfactory or incomplete grades (F, U, I, X, W, or NG) will not count towards the total earned hours requirement.
- Hours earned at another institution over a summer semester will also count. You will have until the 12th class day of the following fall semester to submit your transcript to the Office of Admissions.
- Students who have not earned the appropriate number of hours by the conclusion of the spring semester will be reminded of the 30/60/90 Hour Rule via email. You will have until the close of the summer semester to earn any remaining hours.

Communication from Scholarships & Financial Aid

In accordance with university policy, Scholarships & Financial Aid will communicate with you directly through your official Texas A&M email address and/or permanent telephone number. Information regarding scholarship offers, continued eligibility, and other requirements will be sent to your official Texas A&M email address. Updates to this contact information can be made through the My Records tab on howdy.tamu.edu.

Co-ops & Internships

You must be considered full-time enrolled by the Registrar's Office in order to receive scholarship payments while enrolled in a co-op or internship experience. Some scholarships can be deferred during this time (see Request for Scholarship Deferment form on page 20). You may lose eligibility for your scholarship if you enroll less than full-time, are not identified as full-time equivalent by the Registrar's Office or have not requested the deferment of your scholarship (if applicable).

Grade Changes & No Grades (NG)

It is your responsibility to notify Scholarships & Financial Aid of a grade change which may change your eligibility (ex. raises your cumulative GPR to or above the requirement).

Any requests for reinstatement after deferment, suspension, or a grade change must be received by Scholarships & Financial Aid prior to the 12th class day of the semester for which the payment is being requested. If a request for reinstatement is not submitted or submitted after the 12th class day, you will lose/forfeit that semester's payment. Request for reinstatement for previous semesters will not be considered.

Courses with an Incomplete (I) or X grade will not count towards hours completed for a scholarship. Per university policy, X grades should be resolved within 30 days from the beginning of the subsequent semester; Incomplete (I) grades must be completed by the last class day of the following semester. Courses reported as No Grades (NG) will be considered equivalent to a Q-dropped course regarding scholarship eligibility. NG courses will not count as hours successfully completed for scholarship eligibility.

Graduating Seniors Enrolled Less Than Full-time (12 hours)

If you are enrolled less than full-time (12 hours for undergraduates) in your final semester prior to graduation you may be eligible to receive a remaining scholarship payment. This policy varies by scholarship. You must apply for graduation and have a diploma fee on file before the scholarship will be permitted to pay. No request is necessary. Scholarships & Financial Aid will determine eligibility and act based upon scholarship criteria and student eligibility.

Mid-Term Grades

Mid-term grades will be evaluated only for first-year recipients receiving multi-year scholarships each fall and spring semester to ensure you are on track to obtain the required GPR for their scholarship. Mid-term standing is evaluated using official grades reported to the Registrar's Office by the appropriate deadline each semester.

Scholarship recipients who are not currently meeting the required GPR for their scholarship(s) will be notified via email with information regarding their current scholarship satisfactory academic progress standing.

Remaining Payments after Graduation

Students who graduate with scholarship payments remaining may be able to use the payments for graduate or professional studies at Texas A&M University, including master, doctoral, law and professional health programs. You must continue to be enrolled full-time (9 hours for graduate students) to receive payment. This is not available for all scholarships. If you graduate with remaining scholarship payments and do not continue into a graduate or professional program at Texas A&M, all remaining payments will be removed/forfeited, and the scholarship will be offered to another student.

Scholarship Deferment

Once you have begun enrollment at Texas A&M, scholarship payments may be deferred for documented health reasons, religious missions, military leave or academic experiential learning opportunities such as co-op, internship or education abroad. Deferment is not available for all scholarships. See the Request for Scholarship Deferment form on page 20. You may not defer your scholarship(s) to avoid probation or suspension for failure to maintain the appropriate cumulative GPR or complete the required number of hours.

During the deferment period, you may not attend another college or university. Credit earned during the deferment period will result in termination of the scholarship. The only exception is participation in a Texas A&M-approved credit-bearing education abroad program.

Scholarship Reinstatement

Scholarship payments may be reinstated after an approved deferment. Additionally, some scholarships may be reinstated after you lose eligibility and once you are again meeting the minimum requirements. Payments forfeited for less than full-time enrollment or lost due to scholarship suspension are not eligible for reinstatement. Reinstatement is not available for all scholarships. See the Request for Scholarship Reinstatement form on page 21.

If a leave of absence requires readmission to Texas A&M University, you may submit a Scholarship Reinstatement Request (for applicable scholarship programs). Reinstatement is subject to fund availability and is not guaranteed.

Any requests for reinstatement after deferment, suspension or a grade change must be received by Scholarships & Financial Aid prior to the 12th class day of the semester for which the payment is being requested. If a request for reinstatement is not received by the 12th class day, you will forfeit that semester's stipend. Request for reinstatement for previous semesters will not be considered.

Summer Scholarship Payments

Students with certain academic scholarships may request to use one of their 8 regular scholarship payments (scheduled one per fall and spring for 4 years) during the summer semester while enrolled at Texas A&M. See Request for Summer Payment form on page 23 for a list of eligible scholarships and enrollment requirements. A regular stipend payment will only be applied to the summer term a student is enrolled if it is requested. Otherwise, the scholarship will remain as originally scheduled (one per fall and spring for 4 years).

Withdrawals

Courses recorded as Withdrawn (W) will not count towards hours completed for a scholarship. If you intend to withdraw from the university for the semester or year you should visit with an Aggie One Stop Advisor to review any potential impact on your financial aid package.

Highest Ranking Graduate (Valedictorian) Tuition Exemption

The Highest-Ranking Graduate Tuition Exemption is available to students from an accredited Texas high school who are designated as the school's highest-ranking graduate and attend a Texas public college or university. The high school reports and verifies this information with the Texas Education Agency. The tuition exemption is provided to the student for the fall and spring semesters following high school graduation. Fees, housing, meal plans, etc., are not included. Enrollment in at least 12 hours each semester is required.

Qualified students must present the official Highest Ranking Graduate High School Graduate Declaration document provided by the Texas Education Agency to Scholarships & Financial Aid at Texas A&M for processing, prior to the 12th class of the first fall semester.

Non-Resident Tuition Waiver for Recipients of Competitive Scholarships

A non-resident undergraduate student who holds competitive scholarship(s) of at least $4,000 or more per academic year may be entitled to pay the tuition of a resident student and have the non-resident tuition amount waived. The waiver only applies during the academic year(s) you are receiving at least $4,000 of competitive scholarships. A competitive scholarship must consider both Texas residents and non-residents in the awarding process, not give preference to one or the other, and must be offered by a university scholarship committee. If you lose eligibility for one or more scholarships which drops you below the $4,000 minimum for the year, your non-resident tuition waiver will be lost/forfeited, and you will be assessed non-resident tuition charges.

Graduate students are required to earn and maintain at least $1,000 of competitive scholarship(s) per year to utilize the non-resident tuition waiver.

You must provide a statement and proof of Selective Service registration or exemption to Texas A&M to qualify for the non-resident tuition waiver for recipients of competitive scholarships.

CONDUCT PROBATION & AGGIE HONOR CODE

Per Texas A&M University Student Rule 27.1: University Sanctions, students considered not in good standing are not eligible “to receive a university-administered scholarship when the length of the period of not in good standing is greater than one semester” (27.1.2). Additionally, “some scholarships adhere to more strict guidelines and, therefore, ineligibility may result from a lesser length of not in good standing” (27.1.2). At the request of the Academic Operations Committee, all university scholarships will be reviewed, including university-, college- and department-level scholarships.

If the period of “not in good standing” begins before scholarship funds are disbursed for the semester, the funds will be cancelled and the student considered ineligible. If the period of “not in good standing” begins after the funds have disbursed for the semester, the student will keep the funds so long as the period of “not in good standing” is not longer than one semester.

The student may request the reinstatement of any eligible multi-year scholarships when they are again considered in good standing with the university. Reinstatement to previous scholarships is subject to donor approval and the availability of funds. The student must be in otherwise good standing to request reinstatement (GPR, hours). See the Request for Scholarship Reinstatement form on page 21.
